Competency Match

TMA Talent Assessment reports on 22 independent drives and 44 talents. The personality of a candidate is never described as positive or negative; TMA reports give no final judgment about the candidate. Of course, under certain circumstances and for a certain job or culture particular talents and personality traits are more or less desirable.

The scores, graphs and personality descriptions of various TMA reports are intended to be guidelines. The TMA reports serve as advice and suggestion instrument, the final decision rests with you. TMA is a method that turns selection, assessment, coaching and appraisal procedures into more structured, thorough and focused processes.

The Competency Match report converts the talent scores from the talent assessment into the indication scores on a competency level. Behavioral interview questions will be displayed per competency and it will be clarified based on what drive scores the match rate is built up.
